RESOLUTIONS OF MERIT

The Baptist State convention, at its recent meeting in Newport, adopted a series of resolutions, the contents of which has not yet been given the publicity which they deserve. The committee which drafted the resolutions consisted of no less than seven prominent clergymen and laymen, and it is interesting to note they were passed unanimously.

This is rather an important point since the resolutions uttered no uncertain voice on some most important matters, both ecclesiastical and political. It is not necessary to read between the lines to get at the meaning of the various recommendations and endorsements. And if the membership of the Baptist church in Vermont follows out the spirit of these resolutions something is bound to happen, that may well cause serious reflection in some quarters.

The resolutions take up-to-date ground on the question of overchurch communities "approving the method used by the evangelical churches in affiliating in the overchurch communities," thus saving the duplication of pastoral care, the elimination of needless expense." Whatever may be said of conditions elsewhere, evidently the Baptists of Vermont recognize that human beings are more valuable than creeds, and conservation of resources is preferable to segregation of sects.

The resolution on the Interchurch World Movement is absolutely fair, rendering honor where honor is due, going on record as heartily sympathetic with the spirit of the movement, and recording its conviction of the Christian spirit at the bottom of the scheme. The resolution "heartily endorses the spirit of Christian cooperation which gave conception to and by which was built, the Interchurch World Movement" and further, "that we as a convention recommend and endorse further cooperation and reorganization upon sane principles."

At this time, when there has been thoughtless slander of one of the greatest, the most far-sighted schemes for world evangelization that has ever been conceived, it is refreshing to read the utterances of men who have been in close touch with the Inter Church Movement and who know the true inwardness of the plan, men who recognize the mistakes that have been made, but who also magnify the devout spirit, and the Christian conception of the whole program.

The tenth resolution on the enforcement of prohibition, is however the most unmistakable of them all.
The resolution hits the nail on the head, and then clinches it, after it is driven in. It calls not only for the enforcement of law, but points out that the only way to get it to elect men to office who are pledged to enforce the same. The resolution is not "wet," it is not even "moist." It is not in favor of "enforcing the law until we get it changed." It does not even squint at the fallacy that the federal government has put "one over on the people of Vermont." It brands as slanderous and unmitigated nonsense the statement that "the 18th amendment for federal prohibition was forced through congress and the state legislatures by a powerful and irresponsible organization, operating through paid agents, with unlimited funds." And in so many words it says:—"Resolved, that we, as a convention, appreciating the moral victory as a result of the adoption of the prohibition amendment, hereby assure the authorities of our moral support in its maintenance; and that we advise our constituency to vote as will pledge themselves to the support of the 18th amendment and the laws enacted for its enforcement."

PRESS CLIPPINGS

Dale, Three to One.
(Rutland Herald)

On the east side, Gibson and Trainor are supposed to be on the point of opening up a speaking campaign. John Gordon certainly won't be estopped from public conversation and Porter Dale is omitting extensive remarks and amputating logs of firewood by the sawmill process.

From what I could gather, I should be inclined to give Dale Essex, Orleans and Caledonia counties; Gordon Washington county, Orange county, No-man's land; Windsor county, Trainor; Windham county, Gibson.

Of course speaking campaigns in Barre, Montpelier, St. Johnsbury, Barton and Newport might start something against Gordon and Dale but I should not be surprised if the final line-up were along the lines suggested herewith.

Emery Rapidly Gaining Ground
(Barre Times)

Some of those who are talking politics make the assertion quite boldly that the contest for the Republican nomination for governor of Vermont lies between Curtis S. Emery of Newport and F. H. Babbitt of Bellows Falls, Frank W. Agan of Ludlow not making any particular headway and James Hartness of Springfield having been all but eliminated from consideration. It is significant because when Mr. Emery first entered the contest he was not considered seriously by many of the down-state politicians who are supporting either Babbitt or Hartness. Evidently Mr. Emery has been making considerable progress during the last few weeks and the real man is becoming known and the claim about his being successfully refuted.
As a matter of fact, about the only argument, so-called, that has been brought against Mr. Emery is that he has held more than one office in his long and useful career.

Camp Possibilities Unlimited.
(Barre Times)

A Vermont possibility that is being developed with considerable rapidity this year is the opportunity afforded by nature and geographical surroundings for the establishment of summer vacation camps for boys and girls. These camps are being started in various parts of the state, and on the lake and pond shores but sometimes in the regions where land at times furnish the greatest inducements.
These camps are attracting boys and girls from other states, and the fame of Vermont as a place for vacation and recreation is being sent broadcast over the eastern section of the country. Naturally enough, the parents of the young people are likely to turn their course toward Vermont in order to make visits of inspection, if not to remain for a considerable period in the vicinity of the camps while their young people are enjoying the life in the open. Vermont lends itself to this sort of vacation life unusually well, and these camps are expected to multiply during the next few years. There is a fine chance for business development along this line.

Motor Travel in Two States
(Barre Times)

Vermonters who travel over the New Hampshire roads say that Stod-Bates' roads are high class compared to the neighbor states. Doubtless the New Hampshire people have a similar feeling.—Waterbury Record.

There are some roads in Vermont which are superior to the best in New Hampshire for the reason that New Hampshire, after building a splendid system of trunk lines, did not pay close enough attention to their appeal. One of the Vermont roads we have in mind is in the Connecticut valley highway through the town of Guilford, in northeastern Vermont.
We do not know whether Commissioner Bates had anything to do with the construction of this highway but we are ready to assert that it is a fine construction, as good as any anyone could ask for. From the Lunenburg line north to Maidstone, this main highway is a motorist's delight, so smooth and free from the "washboard" effect is it. In fact, barring a few stretches, the entire river drive northward from Lunenburg to the Canadian line is very satisfactory, while the scenery along the route is calculated to rest and delight the motorist. Those who have been using the New Hampshire side of the river do not realize what good things they have been missing on the Vermont side.

Don't Kick Your Town.
(Morrisville Messenger.)

There is no better evidence of a commendable community spirit than that of loyalty to a town in which a person lives.

It is a town worth living in it is worth defending and supporting in its effort to advance with the rest of the world.

Yet in almost every community you will find people who can see nothing good in their surroundings.

They can not recognize the fact that though it may be humble, it yet is home—that it has clothed them, fed them, and cared for them in sickness and in health and has furnished them friends who have been steadfast and true.

They magnify its imperfections and spread clouds wherever they go.

They often make life miserable for others and invariably make it a reproach to themselves.

But there is a brighter side to this story.

The abuse these shortsighted people heap upon their place of abode generally falls upon unsympathetic ears.

Their neighbors and friends know them as they are—as people who might have been valuable citizens capable of constructive work, but whose dispositions have been warped in younger days, possibly through no particular fault of their own.

Their criticisms are listened to with good natured patience, but are forgotten about as soon as uttered.

The views of the chronic kicker and fault finder have less weight than those of any other adult element of the human race.

When he thinks he is kicking his town he generally finds that he is kicking himself instead.

Denies "Too" Close Labor Associa- tions.

Mr. Editor:
In a recent editorial you made certain comments on me as a candidate for congress. You classed me among "men of more or less radical types or single issue men."

I do not know whether you intended I should be classed among the radical types or the single issue men and I am at a loss to know why you make your classifications.

You further said, "Gordon is known to be closely associated with labor and if it is correctly recalled sought honors from the Democrats a few years back." If you mean that a farmer's boy who worked on a farm until he was 20 and during his vacations while at college was closely associated with labor I confess to the charge. If you mean to insinuate that I am one who is too closely associated with labor to take a fair view of other questions I deny the charge. I can see no ground on which you can base such a charge.

When I was a Republican State Senator in 1910 I introduced a Working Man's Compensation bill and an act to modify the old Fellow Servant Doctrine. The United States government had already passed a similar law to modify that doctrine which Gladstone more than 30 years ago denounced as barbarous. As early as 1904 Mr. Roosevelt had advocated the Working Man's Compensation law and in 1910 nearly 30 countries had adopted it. In 1914 I have voted the bill adopted in fact it was passed with the consent of both the employers and laborers. At the time I introduced the Working Man's Compensation law I also introduced a bill for deferring strikes and lockouts containing substantially the same provisions as the Esch-Cummings Bill recently passed by a Republican congress.

Since 1896 I have voted the Republican ticket both State and National, and sought no honors from the Democratic party. Before that I had voted for Mr. Cleveland but I had also voted for Republican governors. Such is the sum and substance of my offending if I have offended.

Yours very truly,
John W. Gordon.
Barre, Vermont, July 22, 1920.

VERMONTERS GREET GOVERNOR COOLIDGE

Thursday, July 15th, was a big day at Plymouth when 3000 Vermonters gathered at the ancestral home and paid tribute to Calvin Coolidge, governor of Massachusetts, a native son of Vermont and Republican candidate for vice president.
John C. Coolidge, father of Gov.
Coolidge, was the host of the occasion, looking hale and hearty, despite his years. Harding O. Coolidge of Rutland, a relative, of the candidate's, who combines two great names in his own, fell in with the Coolidge clan in the parade, which was a feature of the preliminary jollification.

The serving of lemonade was directed and supervised by the head of the house, one of the features thereof being the stirring of the cooling and refreshing beverage by means of a new axe handle.

The father of Gov. Coolidge lead the parade, which included over 3000 guests. They passed the "reviewing stand" under a Plymouth elm, where Governor and Mrs. Coolidge stood.

Governor Coolidge was introduced by Earle S. Kinsley, Republican national committeeman, as "Vermont's most distinguished son and the next vice president of the United States."

Cheers greeted Governor Coolidge and he was greeted by a rousing welcome. His address in part follows:
"My guests and fellow Vermonters.
I want to thank you for the reception you have tendered me today. I want to thank you for coming in such numbers and I am glad of the respect and comment and hearty greeting. I am here by right of birth. Vermont is my birthright and a noble and high birthright for all to have and living up to it entails a very great obligation."

"In these mountains, in these brooks hurrying down to the sea, in lakes shining like silver in their green settings and fields cultivated by brain and brawn of man, is a place of rest. Yonder schoolhouse, a monument to popular education, the church across the way, by position and size, is a symbol of the temporal and eternal. It ministers to the reverent."

It is a great heritage to be reared here among these hills, given to thrift and industry and that is nobler and best. The schools are doing away with ignorance and aggression by inspiring reverence that ought to be there with the works of nature all around. The young men attend school in order that they may understand the educational advantages of law and order; the privilege of being Americans and of going on as Americans, faithful to themselves and to all mankind."

It was something of a political gathering, Congressman Porter H. Dale and Ernest W. Gibson following each other move thoughtfully, while a thoughtful picture man grouped Can-ness, Agan and Babbitt together and secured a characteristic picture amid storms of chaff and many fairly well worn political jests.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure it with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J.
Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only cure known. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system.
They offer one hundred dollars for any case that fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
